Special Correspondence of The Star.
NEW YORK, April 26.—The word "quaint" has been overworked this season. Ever since full skirts became fashionable last August and women remembered the old English word, they have been using it for all kinds of garments as well as other things that are not included in costume.

Every one thought that a certain type of old-fashioned gowns and hats would flare up in the sartorial sky and then their light would die down, and while this was partially true of the fashions that were brought into being last winter, they seemed to have had a second blooming.

Whether it is that women have recovered from the shock of their lines and have decided that, after all, they have some merit; or whether the milliners and dressmakers are pushing them heavily in order that women will be dissatisfied with the clothes they possess, is not easy to determine; what we do know is that fashions are getting more old-fashioned every moment.

Date Back to '61.

The fashionable apostles of new ideas have adopted clothes that would have graced, or rather suited, the high-ceilinged rooms of Richmond, Va., during the days of the Confederacy. It is amusing and interesting to notice Mrs. Vernon Castle, who is undoubtedly the fashion of the moment, wearing at the circus a checked suit and a little hat that has stepped straight out of a family album that rests on a marble top table in a home on the James river.

The milliners are really ahead of the dressmakers in the revival of clothes that our grandmothers wore. They are bringing out all manner of hats that look curious to our modern eyes and it would not be at all surprising if the coiffures were to renege the heavy chignon of 1860. It will suit the little flower-trimmed hat that is perched on top of the head.

If this comes to pass, then those who are in the half-dressing trade will have another chance to reap a harvest for abundant braids and curls will have to be bought. If the hats of the civil war come back into fashion, they cannot be worn with the trimly drawn hair which we have borrowed from 1870. They must be perched on abundant tresses, and, as in civil war time, these will have to be bought.

Sketch Is New.

The hat in the sketch is a piece of news, for it was introduced by one of the most artistic milliners in town, and it was worn by a curiously lovely woman whose frock of shaded muslin was built up of ruffles, feathered to stand out around the knees. This hat is of straw, with large colored flowers placed over the surface. The brim is turned flatly back upon the crown and held there by blue ribbon, which crosses the ears and is tied down under the chin.

Falling from the back of the hat to the nape of the neck, there is a soft blue covering of tinted chiffon and fine lace.

New Luncheon Set.

Women who incline to novelties in table napery will be interested in this description of a new luncheon set, made from cretonne, that can be fashioned at home. The set consists of a centerpiece, with six plate and six tumbler dollies.

Very small designs are chosen, be-and finished with a white cotton ball fringe. The same basket, with a contrasting trim, is used for the centerpiece.

Then there are hemstitched tea cloths, lunch cloths and dollies, all to match, at very reasonable prices. The colors are warranted fast, and for this reason—and also because the blue and white is so cool looking—many women are using the material for warm weather pillow slips. The scarfing can be cut up into covers, but if one wishes to save labor, the squares, ready hemmed or hemstitched, make practical slips.

A LUNCHEON SET.

cause large patterns would naturally be lost in cutting anything as small as a tumbler dolly. For the same reason a conventional design is better than the floral.

The centerpiece comes in three shapes. One is a round, one is a large oval, and the third is not unlike a Maltese cross—so that the centerpiece suggests a table runner going both ways. The edges are cut in shallow scallops and buttonholed with cream-colored mercerized thread. This is the only work required in making the entire set, after the different pieces have been carefully cut and scalloped. It is necessary that each dolly in the two sizes be cut exactly alike to a thread, since the table, being different in color, will emphasize any deficiencies. A twenty-five-cent coin will be a good guide for the line of scalloping—using about half of the silver piece, as the scallops if made too deep will curl.

I believe these cretonne sets would be very effective on a green reed table, the luncheon being served on the porch. The blue and white Japanese print cloths will be very popular this summer for both dining table and general use. A new scarfing, much wider than the old, renders it more practical, because it can be used singly for curtains, table scarfs, etc. The old width was too narrow for an effective table strip. The new comes in conventional designs, which allow the cutting of any desired length without spoiling the pattern. If a table strip, for example, is wanted, the length is cut, hemmed,

The pillow is laid in the middle of the square and the four corners brought together envelope fashion—except that the corners do not overlap, but simply meet.

Overcasting secures the edges, and the pillow slip is complete.

A strip of the scarfing is very effective when stitched around a card-board waste paper holder, especially if the basket be stovepipe shape. Another short length can be fashioned into a tea cozy for tea served on the veranda.

THE COOKY JAR.

Soft Cookies*

Beat two eggs until creamy and gradually beat in a cup and a half of granulated sugar. Then add three tablespoonsful of sour milk and a teaspoonful of soda. Add a little flour as is necessary to make a dough that will roll. Roll out rather thick, sprinkle with sugar and then cut. Bake light brown.

Ginger Snaps.

Into a bowl measure a cup of molasses, a cup of brown sugar and a half cup of lard or butter, soft. Mix three tablespoonsful of ginger, a teaspoonful of cinnamon and half a teaspoonful of ground cloves, and add to a cupful of flour. Dissolve a teaspoonful of soda in half a cup of boiling water and add to the molasses, sugar and shortening. Then add the cup of flour and enough additional flour to make a dough that can be rolled very thin. Cut and bake.

Chocolate Jumbles.

Mix a cup and a half of granulated sugar, half a cup of cream, half a cup of butter, a cup of grated chocolate and a half teaspoonful of soda dissolved in the cream. Add a teaspoonful of cream tartar to a cup of flour and mix in and add flour enough to make a stiff dough. Roll and cut and bake.

Honey Cakes.

Mix three and a half pounds of flour, a pound and a half of honey, half a pound of butter, half a pound of sugar, half a cup of grated nutmeg, a tablespoonful of ginger, a teaspoonful of soda. Roll thin and bake in a quick oven. Cover in a cookie jar and let stand until moist before eating.

Cocoanut Cookies.

Cream a cup of butter and beat in two cups of granulated sugar. Add two eggs, beaten creamy, and stir again, then add a whole cocoanut, grated, and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder sifted into a cup of flour. Add enough flour to make a dough that will roll thin, roll it thin and cut with a cookie cutter. Bake in a quick oven without browning.

Nut Cookies.

Mix a tablespoonful of butter with a cup of fine brown sugar, and then add a beaten egg. Stir thoroughly and add a tablespoonful and a half of flour, well sifted, and a cup of chopped nut meats—pecans, walnuts or peanuts. Drop from a teaspoon on well buttered tin sheets and bake in a hot oven. Allow them to cool a little before removing from the tin.

Molasses Cookies.

Mix a cup of molasses and a cup of brown sugar, dissolve a teaspoonful of soda in a cup of boiling water and add to the other ingredients with half a cup of shortening and five cupfuls of flour sifted with a tablespoonful each of ginger and cinnamon. Drop from a spoon on greased sheets and bake.

The Summer Wardrobe.

Silver thread lace and perky little bows of silk are usually combined in the trimming of new dance frocks, and the popular colors are Elizabeth blue, peach pink, corn yellow and orchid mauve.

The afternoon and garden party frocks must be made of the new soft linens, voiles or simple silks. They are really a matter of care. If it is too thin, stimulate the hair roots and bring out the new hairs. If it is too dry and brittle, soften it up—lubricate it. To get rid of all dandruff, simply freshen up the scalp.

An inexpensive tonic, called Parisian Sage, sold at all drug counters or by O'Donnell's Drug Store, softens the scalp, nourishes and invigorates the hair roots, immediately removes all dandruff and makes the hair fluffy, lustrous and abundant. One application will stop itching head and cleanse your hair of dust and excess oil. Parisian Sage makes the hair seen twice as abundant and beautifies it until it is soft and lustrous, and pretty hair will surely increase charm and beauty.

To Clean a Copper Kettle.

To bring a copper kettle back to its first brightness, wash with soap and water, then make a paste of a knife point of soda and scour well. Two or three cleanings may be necessary to bring it back to its original brilliancy.

To Have Pretty Hair

If your hair is not soft and pretty, give it daily attention, just as you would a plant to make it grow healthy and beautiful. Luxuriant hair—soft, fluffy, thick and lustrous—is really a matter of care. If it is too thin, stimulate the hair roots and bring out the new hairs. If it is too dry and brittle, soften it up—lubricate it. To get rid of all dandruff, simply freshen up the scalp.
